

tumbling out in a rush of excitement.

Her parents listened intently, their expression softening as they saw the zeal in their daughter's eyes. They shared a smile with one another, realizing just how important this adventure was to her.

"What do you think?" Dyani asked, her heart throbbing with suspense as she waited for their response.

"That's a wonderful idea, Dyani", her father responded, "There's so much to see and learn out there. The world is a beautiful place, filled with wonders and new friends waiting to be found."

"Let's do weekend journeys," her mother suggested. "We'll explore nearby cultural festivals, taste new foods, and maybe even learn a few words."

"This is going to be so much fun! Thank you, Mom and Dad!" Dyani exclaimed, her voice bubbling with excitement.

